It is the remedy we all need when suffering from any form of ache or pain, resulting from taking cold or over-exertion.

Tramps Break in and Steal.

Tramps broke into the Sebastian Smith house on Fore street, Oxford, recently. It looked as though there might have been two of them or more. They entered by breaking in the lower half of a window in the ell and then proceeded to set themselves up in housekeeping after their own ideas. They mixed up a batch of biscuit and by the looks they got about as much flour and cooking material on the floor and furniture as the biscuit. They ate a quart jar full of molasses and helped themselves to other eatables in the house.

They burned all the kerosene then made light from a dozen or more candles. The tallow from the candles was in drops over the floor and on other places wherever they worked and carried the candles. They had searched the house evidently for something to eat and left things topsy-turvy and their dishes unwashed. It will take a good deal of work to clear up the house and put it back in as good condition as they found it. The beds were not disturbed and robbery did not appear to enter into their plans.

Few people know what a comfortable place the Green-dragon, H. D. Smith's camp, is, in summer or winter, unless they have had the pleasure of going there. It is picturesquely situated near the top of a steep hill in front of Sebastian Smith's farm home and in the pasture of the Smith farm. The camp is a two story with a large living room and kitchen and chambers up stairs. It is built so that it can be kept warm in the winter from a fire in the large stone fireplace.

The camp faces the west and the view out across the valley to the distant mountains is a scene of rest. The trains on the Grand Trunk passing the valley is one of the sights especially in the evening, and the sunsets behind the mountains are fine. Large trout among which are several oaks, are about the camp and extend to the top of the hill behind it through which one of the paths leads to the old orchard, one of places that is frequently visited by the campers of the Green-dragon in the summer season. There is usually a breeze on this hill and at the camp even on the warmest days, and the trees and the hill serve to shelter the camp in winter.

Two of the out-of-doors pleasure of the younger members of the family are, the growing of pennyroyal in abundance about there and its coming heralds the summer season that may be lived in camp and is a time of rejoicing; also fishing in the Little Androscoggin.

Word from Peary.

Commander Robert E. Peary of the U. S. navy, has given to his native country the record of having penetrated "Farthest North" 87 degrees and 6 minutes. He got within 100 miles of the pole. He penetrated nearer to the pole than the Duke of Abruzzi's expedition which had held the Arctic record 86 degrees, 34 minutes. This will be of more than the usual interest to Oxford county for Commander Peary was at one time a resident of the county and made a record as the foremost explorers in the Arctic region his mother still lived in Bethel and received visits there from her son.

A good thing has come out concerning a local campaign orator during the recent struggle in Maine. "My friends," said the political speaker, with a burst of eloquence for which he was noted, "I will be honest—There was a large number of his neighbors present, and the terrific outburst of applause which followed this remark entirely upset the point which the orator was about to introduce.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Mothers Should Watch the Development of Their Daughters—Interesting Experiences of Misses Borman and Mills.

Every mother possesses information which is of vital interest to her young daughter. Too often this is never imparted or is withheld until serious harm has resulted to the growing girl through her ignorance of nature's mysterious and wonderful laws and penalties. Girls' over-sensitiveness and modesty often puzzle their mothers and baffles physicians, as they so often withhold their confidence from their mothers and conceal the symptoms which ought to be told to their physician at this critical period.

When a girl's thoughts become sluggish, with headache, dizziness or a disposition to sleep, pains in back, aching limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, her mother should come to her aid, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will at this time prepare the system for the coming change, and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Hundreds of letters from young girls and from mothers, expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them, have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., at Lynn, Mass.

Miss Mills has written the two following letters to Mrs. Pinkham, which will be read with interest:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—(First Letter.) "I am but fifteen years of age, and of late have dizzy spells, chills, headache and back-ache, and as I have heard that you can give helpful advice to girls in my condition, I am writing you."—Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—(Second Letter.) "It is with the feeling of utmost gratitude that I write to you to tell you what your valuable medicine has done for me. When I wrote you in regard to my condition I had consulted several doctors, but they failed to understand my case and I did not receive any benefit from their treatment. I followed your advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and an hour, healthy and well, and all the distressing symptoms which I had at that time have disappeared."—Myrtle Mills, Oquawka, Ill.

Miss Matilda Borman writes Mrs. Pinkham as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my periods were irregular and painful, and I always had such dreadful headaches."

"But since taking the Compound my headaches have entirely left me, my periods are regular, and I am getting strong and well. I am telling all my girl friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Matilda Borman, Farmington, Iowa.

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice, ask her to address Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her every detail of her symptoms, and to keep nothing back. She will receive advice absolutely free, from a source that has no rival in the experience of woman's ills, and it will, if followed, put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of cures of female ills of any medicine that the world has ever known. Why don't you try it?

Incident in Henry L. Farrington's War Record.

I recently heard an old army comrade of Henry L. Farrington relate an incident in the latter's career as a soldier, which might be as interesting to some of your readers as it was to me. At the battle of Antietam, Farrington's regiment, the 10th Maine, saw hard service and sustained heavy losses, being used up so badly that the remnant of the regiment was finally relieved and the survivors ordered back.

Mr. Farrington being one of the fortunate ones, who were neither dead nor wounded, instead of accepting the much needed respite, joined a New York regiment with two of his comrades and continued fighting. And that on an empty stomach they had gone in that morning before they had time for any breakfast.

This army comrade of Mr. Farrington says he was one of the best of soldiers and a brave man, and by no means quarrelsome, and he thinks it a piece of great injustice for him to be obliged to serve sentence for manslaughter, when he was simply defending his own life. His opinion seems to be that a man has a right to fight in self defense, whether or no he is intoxicated. Apparently the fair minded jury thought otherwise.

CORA M. W. GREENLEAF.

Blame the Autos for Gypsy Moth in Maine. Automobiles may cause a loss to Maine of the greater part of its forestry and its fruit trees, amounting to millions of dollars. This, in effect, is the warning sent out from the office of the state entomologist.

"It is not the automobile itself that is feared in this case, but certain unbridled passengers, it may bring from New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts, where there abounds a pest that has cost the Old Bay State over $1,500,000. It is the famous gypsy moth. Already one town has been driven nearly to desertion by the plague."

"This is the town of East Rochester on the New Hampshire boundary where the gypsy moth reached this town several months ago through a person whose name is not known. An automobile from Massachusetts left specimens in the town. The moths began to multiply until the whole community was overrun with them."

Maine's coming legislature will be asked for $100,000 to combat the plague. Pine trees in the State are suffering and fruit everywhere has been hurt. It is feared that many of Maine's beautifully wooded parks and roads may be destroyed once the moths get headway.

Oxford Man General Manager.

The recent hurricane in Cuba and the southeastern coast of Florida has called special attention to the wonderful extension of the Florida East Coast Railroad, which is not only built along the main land and Key West, the proposed southern terminal of this road. The extension of this road has great interest for our people, not only for its scenic attraction and engineering difficulties, but also because an Oxford man, J. R. Parrott, esq., is vice president and general manager.

It may be interesting to those who contemplate passing over this road at some future time, that the roadbed already built was not seriously injured by the storm, which speaks well for its construction, and allays fears of damage in future hurricanes.

The distance from Miami to Key West is about 150 miles, but as the road had actually been built to Homestead, 24 miles south of Miami, the real distance of the extension to be built will be a little more than 126 miles.

Charles Moore Wilson of Waterford is in his second year at the Maine Medical school.

Young-Fowler.

A wedding was solemnized at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Merry of Auburn.

The parties were Jennie Ethelyn Fowler of Portland, and John Leavitt Young of Buckfield. Both are graduates of the school for the deaf at Portland, which they attended several years ago. The ceremony was performed by J. W. L. Fortin, rector of Trinity church, Lewiston, who was assisted by Miss E. R. Taylor, principal of the school, who interpreted to the parties the questions of the clergyman.

The wedding took place in the parlor of the single ring service being used. The room, as were others in the house, was decorated very prettily with evergreen and cut flowers. The bride was very prettily dressed and carried flowers. After the service was performed light refreshments were served, after which the newly wedded couple took the afternoon train for Massachusetts where they will make their wedding tour. On their return they will make their home in Buckfield.

Fortunate Father and Son.

I am as certain as I now live, says Mr. C. E. Bartholomew, Kalkaska, Mich., that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondon, L. I., saved my life when I was a victim of that terrible disease—Bright's disease. My son had a fever sore on his leg; he took Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and is now well. All druggists $1.00; 6 bottles $5.00.

Mrs. Emily Wright.

The funeral of Mrs. Emily Wright was held at Canton, Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Wright, whose death occurred Monday, was an old resident of the town, and for many years a member of the Universalist church. Rev. J. H. Little, a former pastor, officiated at the funeral services, which were held at the Universalist church.

Mrs. Wright was the sister of John P. Swasey. Her early home was at Canton Point, where she was born 74 years ago. She was a member of the Eastern Star and the Ladies' Relief Corps, and both these societies attended the funeral.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. E. W. Howe of Rumford Falls, two brothers, one living in Montreal and one in California; a sister in Michigan, and another sister, Mrs. John P. Swasey of Canton.

A New Hampshire paper says:—It is stated that down in the hunting regions of Maine the sportsmen are just as careful as can be not to shoot a moose, unless it is a bull and has horns of the requisite size, showing it to be at least two years old. There's a $500 fine for a violation of this law and it is obeyed to the letter. But when it comes to shooting a man by mistake, no such care is displayed. There's likewise a penalty for that, but like many other laws, it is not enforced. There seems to be no need of comment on this condition of affairs.

Divorce.

Now and again there are presented at divorce courts scenes that are far more sad than ever seen at a funeral. To some outsiders the cause of the trouble is so cheap and trivial that one feels like laughing aloud. But to the parties interested the contention is more serious than any conflict that was ever waged between warring nations. And the pity of it all lies in the fact that the worst trouble might have been averted, had either party used more tact and exercised greater forbearance. If the wife had been less vain and flighty, if the husband had been more patient and thoughtful—ah if things had deviated in ever so small a manner, all this temper and exposure might have been averted.

But instead of compromising or agreeing to a dignified separation, the little spat had to culminate in a open court trial before curious and sneering spectators. The most sacred sentiments known to mankind had to be analyzed and exposed to the proings of lawyers, who work for hire, and who will recall the answers of angry contestants and tell about them for years to come.

As one thinks of the cruel awakening from one love's dream, and as one contemplates the shame every participant in the proceedings must feel, it seems that nobody with any natural feeling would trust the arbitrament of his cherished hopes to any court on earth.

Denunciation of the divorce evil does little good. The search is for practical remedies. As an experiment the plan of a Philadelphia Judge to prevent the marriage of respondent and correspondent was commended. So meditative is the mental as well as the physical pace of Philadelphia, that from the same city comes also the next valuable suggestion. A clergyman by careful calculation concludes that merely by incorporating in our statutes a law of ancient Greece we can cause a decrease in the number of divorces from 60 to 70 per cent.

This law is not in the least complex. It provides simply that when a man gets a divorce he cannot under any circumstance marry another woman younger than his ex-wife.

Conceding that 60 per cent. of the divorces will thereby be prevented, we have an amendment to offer which will take care of the remaining 40 per cent. A woman who gets a divorce must not be permitted under any circumstance to marry another man richer than her ex-husband.

This double barreled attack upon rich men and young women—the two classes who keep our divorce courts open—seems thoroughly logical, sociologically and psychologically.

Marriage is civilization's check upon the natural state of bacchanal man. Nature's spoiled darlings are naturally the leaders in the attempt to enlarge the leash until it is stretched past all usefulness. Again it is society's duty to make it as uncomfortable as possible for those who have the best of everything else in the world—the rich man and the young woman.

Some sixty teachers went to the Lewiston teachers' convention.

Hon. George D. Bisbee has been in New York engaged in a case before the United States Court.

Much interest was manifested in the revival services that were held here recently by Evangelist Gilman.

Olney Farrington of East Andover, while clearing out the pulp in his cider mill, caught his sleeve in the gearing and had his arm drawn in. He gave a jerk and threw off the belt thereby probably saving his arm.

The barn on the home farm of Frank E. Carver at Canton was burned to the ground together with its contents, which comprised six cows, one horse, swine, a dog, potatoes, hay, apples, farming utensils and carriages. Arthur Carver, who resides on the place, was awakened by the pitiful howling of the cattle at about 3 o'clock, at which time the barn was in a blaze and it was impossible to save anything.

Errol Ellis, the eldest son of E. E. Ellis of Canton, was the victim of an unfortunate accident, recently. While loading his 12 calibre rifle it was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering his leg below the knee. The bullet was found below the ankle, having ploughed its way downward and lodged between two bones. The little fellow, who is only 13 years of age, is doing very well and no serious results are expected by his physician and friends.

Rosco Alexandro, a slick looking Italian, was before the local court charged with forging the name of W. Greenleaf of Livermore to a check of $50, which he tried to pass to Charles Israelson. Alexandro had other checks for larger amounts and failed to cash them. The checks were on the Leather National Bank of Auburn. He pleaded not guilty and was put under $500 bonds to appear before the grand jury. He could not furnish security and Deputy J. J. Bell took him to Paris jail.

Children's Corner.

Hearing of the death of Mrs. John Emery of Erol, N. H., reminds me of a beautiful letter received from her some time ago which I think is worthy of publication in the Children's Column.

MY DEAR FRIEND:—It was a great pleasure to me to receive a letter from you. My health is very poor so please excuse my seeming neglect. I send you some poetry, also a prayer I think is a good one. I know you must be a good girl, you have such a good Christian mamma. I remember you well as a very little child when here, wish I could see you and your mamma but soon we may all be together on that beautiful shore where parting is unknown. You are young and the future is before you, all pure and untarnished, and it lies with you to keep it pure or blacken it, but I trust that you will ever pray God to help you to build an untarnished character. "Character is more than intellect. Goodness outshines gems, as the sun makes the electric light cast a shadow. A good character is the best of all possessions." I fear my letter will not be very interesting. I am tired and must rest. May God be with you and bless you all your days.

Lighted Chandelier at Church Fell.

The church at Spurr's Corner narrowly escaped being destroyed by fire Wednesday evening, Oct. 21. There was to have been an evening service there and all the lamps were lighted when the chandelier fell to the floor setting the wood-work of the pews and the carpet.

But by quick action on the part of the janitor and others the fire was extinguished by piling the cushions from the pews upon the flames. Injury to the building will be repaired by the insurance but the cushions will be a loss.

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different products.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

It will nourish and strengthen the body when milk and cream fail to do it. Scott's Emulsion is always the same; always palatable and always beneficial where the body is wasting from any cause, either in children or adults.

Merton Sumner as Pedro Mendez, and Miss I. E. Andrews as Sally were easily the stars.

NORTH WATERFORD.

Thirty Years Brings Changes.
The new telephone line from Lovell is in working order. How many remember that at the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia in 1876 the telephone was looked upon as a child's toy, and men of sense and judgment laughed at the "visionary schemes" of a few deluded people who dared predict that cities, if not too far apart, would some day talk with each other.

G. B. Rice is shingling the front side of the oil of his house.

The village schools are closed. Alas, for the schools of old that gave us full 24 weeks a year of district school and 20 of high school, while under the present school system there are no more than half as many weeks, and children who used to walk two or three miles each day must now be carried to school at great expense to the taxpayer.

EAST WATERFORD.

More About the Shooting Accident.

Saturday, Nov. 3d, occurred a shooting accident, which has caused much excitement. Len Cox's boy, Louie, was playing with Harold Howe, son of Paul Howe. Harold had some work to do and went in the house to clean up. He was in there some time and did not know where the Cox boy was nor what he was doing but it seems the Cox boy took the gun which was in the barn and took a loaded shell and put in the gun.

When Harold started out he stood a broom out in the floor by the door and the Cox boy fired at him and shot him in the left arm. He ran for his mother and told her his left arm was broken. She had presence of mind to tie a cord about his arm to save his life, which was all that saved him from bleeding to death.

A doctor was called as soon as possible and all done that could be done for him but in the evening the arm was bleeding badly and two doctors were called at midnight and the arm taken off. He has suffered a great deal but is as comfortable as can be expected. Mr. Howe and son, Alton, were at Norway when it happened. The Cox boy went away and told that Harold's arm was broken but did not tell them he shot him; also told several stories about it. He owed up to Sheriff McIntire after a while.

Mrs. Lewis Merrill and son, Arnold, John and Ed. Sanders were at Fred Knight's recently, also C. E. Knightly.

Lulu McIntire is helping care for the sick at Paul Howe's. Mrs. Edith and Alice McIntire called at Mr. Howe's Tuesday afternoon, also Mrs. Lewis Merrill and son of South Waterford. There were lots of people at Paul Howe's. Sunday, inquiring about the shooting affair of his son, Harold.

Clarence Wiggin and Herbert Whitcomb have finished work at the cage place and have gone to fields and pastures new.

Nearly all the cattle remaining in the pastures since the regulation day for removal, Oct. 20th, were taken away on Friday. Doubtless the biting wind and whirling snowflakes of that day reminded the cattle owners that a merciful man should be merciful to his beast.

A Young Men's Town Club will be formed in the village this week. The first meeting will be on Thursday at half-past seven in the church vestry. All young men of fifteen years of age and upward are welcome.
